Liquid Traces: The Left-to-Die Boat Case

Liquid Traces reconstructs the events of the "left-to-die" boat case. In March 2011, a small rubber boat carrying 72 passengers left the Libyan coast, heading towards the island of Lampedusa in Italy.

Following an engine failure, the boat ran into difficulties. Despite several distress signals relaying the location, and encounters with military helicopters and ships, the passengers were left adrift for 14 days in NATO's maritime surveillance area. 63 people died.

This short film is directed by Charles Heller and Lorenzo Pezzani.

The Story of Migration

This short, animated film explores the relationship between migration and inequality. It was created by Karrie Fransman for research organisation PositiveNegatives, and was nominated for 'Best Animated Film' in the Arts and Humanities Research Council's Research in Film Awards 2021.

Life on the Move

Centred on the Horn of Africa, this stop-motion animation explores the complex reasons why people move across borders, drawing on migrant experiences. Created by PositiveNegatives, the film was the winner of the 'Best Social Media Short' category in the Arts and Humanities Research Council's Research in Film Awards 2019.

The film was directed by Osbert Parker and Dr Benjamin Worku-Dix. Please be aware that it contains depictions of violence.

Artists to join us:

Dr Benjamin Worku-Dix is the Founding Director of PositiveNegatives and a Senior Fellow at SOAS, University of London.

Shorsh Saleh is an artist. His works focus on the subjects of migration and identity, employing the traditional techniques of miniature painting in a contemporary context. His work "Crossing Border", has recently been acquired by Royal Museums Greenwich.

Güler Ateş was born in Eastern Turkey and lives and works in the UK. Her multidisciplinary work encompasses video, photography, printmaking and performance through which she explores the experience of identity, diaspora and cultural displacement.
